

Are you ready for the library of the future?

Come and meet EBSCO people at the Online Information Conference booth #504 to learn how we can help you prepare for the library of the future by making the most of new generation tools dedicated to information management, research and discovery.

3 good reasons to meet us at Online Information:

1. We make it a point of principle to always be aware of where our customers stand and where they are heading.

For instance, during last summer, EBSCO conducted a European-wide online survey to size up how social media can fit in the library world.

2. We focus our efforts to bring innovative solutions to the information industry.

At our booth, you will be able to attend a demo of our newest subscription and e-resource management tools, databases, e-books and discovery solutions, including EBSCO's Complete Discovery Solution™ and our specific tool for e-package management.

3. We regularly organise and support information industry conferences.

During the Online Information Conference and Exhibition 2010, EBSCO will also participate in the European Librarian Theatre and International Forums, as an official partner.

By visiting us and attending a demo at booth #504, you will enter our prize draw and get a chance to win an iPad!
